

Stories from different cultures about the moon

	Summary	Similarities Did you notice anything similar to the other stories?
Rona & the moon	Ronas' kid and husband said that night that fishing would be perfect, so they left. Rona was preparing warm cooking stones for her husband. Accidentally she fell asleep for a long time while collecting more cooking stones. She woke up and there was no warm bright sun, it was a bright cold moon and a dark cold sea. As she was on her way she tripped because the moon had hidden its moonlight away. Rona was then hurt and furious so she started swearing at the moon. She then got cursed and stuck up in the moon. That day the son and her husband never found her until they looked up at the moon.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">● Rona and the moon and The moon goddess = Both woman disappeared
The Moon Goddess	The moon goddess grandad very much loved her and he was extremely protective. When she found her love (Sun god) her grandfather would not let the sun god come near so he disguised and asked the moon goddess to escape with him. As they were sailing away in a canoe the grandfather cast the thunder god to stop them. The lightning then struck the moon goddess and she died, but she came back to life. She and the sun god married. The sun god soonly mistreated her and she went to live with the vulcher king. The sun god begged for her to come back, but she never did. She vowed to never appear at day ever again.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">●

African story about the sun & moon

Sun and moon and all the other creatures live on one small land. So they built a house for themselves, all their friends came except for water. They then invited water to visit but water filled up the whole house which caused the sun and moon to stay up in the sky. But they really liked it up in the sky,

- All the stories have a character that vanished into the sky.